01 THE ONE-LINE VERSION

Four approved descriptions at four lengths. Use verbatim or as raw material — the meaning must survive whatever you do to them.

TEN WORDS

Bipass AI rewrites AI text to your real writing level.

ONE SENTENCE

Bipass AI takes ChatGPT or Gemini text and rewrites it so it reads like a real student wrote it — at the level you pick — then types it into Google Docs for you, character by character.

SHORT PARAGRAPH — DECKS, APP STORES, BIOS

Bypass AI is a writing tool for students. Paste text from ChatGPT or Gemini and it rewrites it to read like a person: simpler vocabulary, varied sentence rhythm, and the small imperfections real writers make. Pick a level — Beginner, Student, Academic, or a custom mix — or train it on samples of your own writing so the result sounds specifically like you. The Auto Typer Chrome extension then types your reviewed text into Google Docs like a person would. No subscription, no API key.

LONG — PRESS, PARTNER DECKS, ABOUT PAGE

AI writing gets noticed for being too polished, not for being wrong. Even sentence lengths, stock transitions, vocabulary above the level the writer actually uses — that mismatch is the tell. Bypass AI fixes the mismatch. It rewrites AI-assisted drafts to read like genuine human writing at a level you choose, learns your personal spelling and punctuation habits from a few samples, and finishes the job with an Auto Typer extension that enters your reviewed text into Google Docs character by character instead of pasting it. Built by a small independent student team with no outside funding, it sells one-time passes from $5.99 rather than a subscription — and it is careful never to promise an AI-detector score, because no honest tool can.

NOT "BEAT THE DETECTOR." SOUND LIKE YOURSELF.

02 WHY IT EXISTS

The founding insight. Every campaign should be traceable back to this paragraph.

AI writing doesn't get clocked because it's bad. It gets clocked because it's better than the person handing it in.

A sophomore who says "bro" out loud does not write "Moreover, it is imperative to consider the multifaceted implications." Teachers notice the jump before any software does. Detectors, meanwhile, are probabilistic, change constantly, and produce false positives — which hits ESL students hardest, since careful non-native English already reads "too even."

So Bypass AI attacks the mismatch, not the software. It brings polished machine text back down to a believable human level, in the voice of the person submitting it. That is the whole product idea, and it is also the reason the brand can stay on the right side of a conversation that gets other tools banned from ad platforms.

WHO BUILT IT

A small independent student team. No VC funding, no offices. They built it for themselves first. That origin is usable in creative — it is the honest version of "for students, by students," and it explains the pricing (one-time passes, no subscription trap) better than any value proposition line could.

03

WHAT IT ACTUALLY DOES

Three moves in one product. Competitors only do the first one — that gap is the campaign.

Humanize

Rewrites robotic phrasing into natural rhythm — varied sentence length, plain words, real transitions instead of stock ones.

Level Matching

Drops the writing to a believable level: Beginner, Student, Academic, or Custom. This is the part nobody else has.

Auto Typer

A Chrome extension types the reviewed text into Google Docs character by character — variable speed, thinking pauses, the occasional typo it catches and fixes.

Sequence matters in creative. Humanize → Level → Type is the product's actual order and its most film-able idea. Most ads for this category stop at "paste, click, done." Ours has a third act.

04

FULL FEATURE INVENTORY

Everything shipping today, with the angle each one gives you. Nothing here is roadmap — it all exists in the live product.

FEATURE	WHAT IT DOES	WHY CREATIVES CARE
Level Matching	Rewrites text to Beginner, Student, Academic or Custom level. 4 credits per word.	The hero feature. One paragraph, four levels — a whole ad format in itself.
Humanize	Natural rhythm and vocabulary pass. 15 credits per word.	The category table stakes. Never lead with it alone.
Humanize + Level Matching	Both in one run, 18 credits per word — one credit cheaper than running them separately. The recommended default.	This is what "the full thing" means in demos. Show this mode.
Custom dials	Vocabulary simple↔hard, plus grammar, tense, punctuation, capitals and spelling mistakes set to none / a little / a lot.	Visually irresistible. Sliders that add mistakes on purpose is a genuinely novel image.
My Writing Style	Paste 1–5 of your own samples (50+ words each); it profiles your spelling, grammar and punctuation habits, shows each trait as an adjustable bar, and saves multiple profiles. Free — costs no credits.	"It sounds like me, not like a human." Emotional high point of the product.
Auto Typer extension	Official Chrome extension. Types reviewed text into Google Docs and other editable fields at slow / normal / fast speed, with an optional 5–20 minute target time, thinking pauses, and mistyping that backspaces and corrects itself ("teh" → "the"). Floating start / stop control.	The signature. No competitor has anything like it. "Typed. Not pasted."
Generate	Writes a fresh draft from a topic or prompt, formatted as an essay, email, story, casual message, business text or discussion post.	Widens the audience past "I already have AI text."
Edit with AI	Change one part of the result in plain language without regenerating the whole thing.	Control. Answers "but what if I hate one sentence."
Change highlighting	The result page marks every edit by category — vocabulary, tense, punctuation — with counts.	Shows the work. Great for close-up product film.
File upload	Drop in a PDF, DOCX or TXT instead of pasting.	Removes the "select all, copy" friction beat.
Push My Own Text	Send text you already wrote straight to the Auto Typer without rewriting it.	Proof the tool isn't only for AI text.
History	Every result saved to the account, deletable any time.	Reassurance beat, not a hero.
Live progress	Stage-by-stage progress with a credit counter ticking as it runs.	Makes waiting watchable — useful in 8-second cuts.
No API key	Runs on Google Gemini 2.5 Flash behind the scenes. Sign up, pick a pass, paste.	Kills the "is this technical?" objection instantly.

05 WHO WE'RE TALKING TO

One buyer, four states of mind. The buyer and the user are the same person — a student spending their own money, usually under deadline.

CORE

The undergrad

18–22, US/UK/AU. Uses ChatGPT the way older students used Wikipedia, and knows their essay reads "off." Wants it to sound like them again. The Student level is built for exactly this person and is the default recommendation.

HIGHEST EMPATHY

The ESL writer

Writes careful, even, textbook English — and gets false-flagged for it. Levels let them write at the level they actually speak. This is the most defensible, most sympathetic story the brand has, and it should not be a footnote in the work.

PREMIUM

The applicant

Personal statements, grad applications, thesis chapters. Wants their voice kept and the stiff AI seams smoothed. Buys the Annual Pass. Talk to them in a lower, calmer register than the TikTok work.

VOLUME

The 2 a.m. panicker

Finals week, 2,000 words, one hour. Doesn't read features — reads speed and price. Buys the $5.99 Day Pass on a phone. Every performance ad should be legible to this person in under two seconds.

Channel reality: the audience lives on TikTok and Instagram Reels, and the brand's own social approach is faceless demonstration content — no presenter, no talking head, the entertainment and the product demo are the same clip.

06 THE COMPETITIVE FIELD

Everyone in this category rewrites text once and charges monthly. The white space is levels, personal style, and typing.

TOOL	REWRITES	MATCHES A LEVEL	LEARNS YOUR STYLE	TYPES IT IN	PRICING
Bypass AI	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes	One-time passes
Undetectable.ai	Yes	No	No	No	Subscription
BypassAI	Yes	No	No	No	Subscription
StealthWriter	Yes	No	No	No	Subscription
QuillBot	Paraphrase only	No	No	No	Subscription
Grammarly	Paraphrase only	No	No	No	Subscription

Comparison drawn from each tool's publicly listed features; this category ships fast, so re-check before any competitive claim goes to air.

THE NAME PROBLEM — READ THIS BEFORE WRITING A SINGLE HEADLINE

Bipass AI (B-I-P-A-S-S) is not BypassAI. They are unaffiliated competitors with near-identical spoken names, and BypassAI currently outranks us in search. Two consequences for the work: spoken-word media must spell the name or show it long enough to read, and no execution may imply any connection between the two brands. Treat the near-miss as a reason for a strong, distinctive visual wordmark rather than as a joke to lean on.

VOICE AND VOCABULARY

The brand sounds like a competent friend one year ahead of you, not like software. Dry, specific, unhyped, occasionally lowercase.

SAY THIS

- + "Sound human" / "reads like a real student wrote it"
- + "At your level" — levels are the ownable idea
- + "Typed. Not pasted."
- + "It sounds like me"
- + "No subscription. No card to cancel."
- + Concrete numbers: $5.99, four levels, 1–5 samples
- + Real student texture — finals week, discussion posts, 2 a.m.

NEVER SAY THIS

- × "Cheat," "get away with it," "beat your teacher"
- × "Guaranteed," "100%," "undetectable," "always passes"
- × Any promise about a specific detector's score
- × "Plagiarism" in any form — wrong product, wrong problem
- × Corporate SaaS register: "leverage," "revolutionary," "seamless"
- × Anything implying a link to BypassAI or Undetectable.ai
- × Claims that the Auto Typer proves a student wrote something

Tone reference: the product's own user reviews are the target register — "honestly saved me during finals week, pasted my essay, put it on Student level and it just read like me." Lowercase, specific, no exclamation marks. Ad copy that sounds more polished than that sounds less true.

BRAND KIT AND ASSETS

The identity this document is set in. It is the live product's system — match it or argue for a considered evolution, but don't drift.

PALETTE

Green is a status accent — a dot, a rule, a selected state — never a background wash and never a second brand colour. The product also ships a dramatic dark mode, so any identity work must survive on a near-black ground.

TYPEFACES

DISPLAY	BEBAS NEUE — HEADLINES, LEVELS, NUMBERS
INTERFACE / BODY	Syne — subheads, product UI, running copy
UTILITY	DM Mono — labels, credits, data

MARK

A rounded black tile with a white B, and a triangular negative-space cut inside the letterform that the brand's own film treatment flies the camera through. Source files: favicon.svg, favicon.png, og-image.png in the repo root.

FILM

Auto Typer showcase

assets/auto-typer-showcase.mp4 plus poster frame, and a Remotion project that regenerates it at any length.

FILM

Two ad clips

Bypass ads clip 1.mov and bipassai showcase clip 2.mov — existing edits at the repo root.

STORYBOARD

Cinematic flythrough plan

ad-assets/google-flow/ — a fully written 32-second, four-shot vertical film with five rendered keyframes: camera enters through the B, flies the level controls, follows text into the Auto Typer, rides beside the caret in Google Docs.

STILLS

UI screenshot library

screenshots/ — desktop and mobile captures of every page and the extension popup, light and reduced-motion variants included.

LIVE

Interactive homepage demo bipassai.com runs a working multi-stage simulation — paste, level, result, Auto Typer. Screen-record it; it is already art-directed.

SOCIAL

Format already validated

The house workhorse is the :8-second score-flip demo, posted 5–6× a week across TikTok and Reels, faceless.

CREATIVE TERRITORIES

Six directions the product actually supports. They are not exclusive — but a campaign that picks one and commits will beat one that samples all six.

TERRITORY 01

The Tell

The gap between how a student talks and how their essay reads. Cut between the two: someone saying "yeah it was kinda mid" over a screen reading "the exhibition proved somewhat underwhelming." Bypass closes the gap. Highest-concept, most awardable route, and the one that dramatizes the insight instead of the interface.

TERRITORY 02

Four Levels

One paragraph, run four ways — Beginner, Student, Academic, Custom — as a typographic set piece. Poster, carousel, and 6-second bumper all fall out of the same idea. Owns the single feature no competitor can match, and works with zero voiceover.

TERRITORY 03

Typed. Not Pasted.

Extreme macro on the caret. Characters appearing one at a time, a pause, a typo, a backspace, the correction. Forty minutes compressed into eight seconds. This is the brand's signature image and nobody else in the category can run it.

TERRITORY 04

Sounds Like Me

The style profile as a fingerprint: your comma habits, your missing apostrophes, the way you always start sentences with "So." The emotional route — for ESL students and applicants especially — and the one that argues the tool restores a voice rather than replacing one.

TERRITORY 05

Nothing To Cancel

Straight price attack on a category built on subscription traps. $5.99 once, credits that never expire, a free pass to start. Best for performance and paid social where the two-second read is all you get.

TERRITORY 06

2 A.M.

Situational truth. Finals week, a blinking cursor, a word count that won't move. The product arrives as relief, not as software. Cheap to produce, endlessly extendable, and the natural home for the relatable-pain posts that carry organic reach — as long as the joke is about the deadline, never about deceiving anyone.

11 CLAIM GUARDRAILS

Non-negotiable. These protect ad-account health as much as legal exposure — the cheat framing is what gets accounts in this category shadow-banned and rejected.

RULE 01

Never promise a detector result

No score, no pass rate, no "undetectable." The product's own copy says a detector score is an estimate and no tool can guarantee one. Creative may say text reads human; it may not say what any software will conclude.

RULE 02

The Auto Typer types — that's all

It is a typing convenience. It does not recreate a research or drafting process and does not prove authorship. Never suggest it manufactures evidence.

RULE 03

Third-party detector brands

Turnitin, GPTZero, Copyleaks and the rest may be referenced factually in editorial and organic demos, never in a way that implies partnership, and never with a fabricated score presented as a real result. Keep their logos and interfaces out of paid work.

RULE 04

Integrity stays with the user

The standing line is that Bypass AI is a writing tool and how you use it is your responsibility, under your school's policy. Keep that stance visible in long-form work rather than burying it in a legal end-card.

RULE 05

Review is part of the product story

Every honest demo ends with the student reading the output, not with a submit button. Facts, citations and meaning are theirs to check.

RULE 06

Name and independence

Spell B-I-P-A-S-S in any spoken execution. Never imply affiliation with BypassAI or similarly named sites — the site carries an explicit disclaimer and creative must not undercut it.
